Override on the ballot:

Can it win?

By Don Staruk

On May 6, for the first time since Proposition 2 1/2 became reality in 1982, Andover will have to deal with an override question.

"That's the first one that's ever come up, the first time it's ever got to town meeting floor," Gerald Silverman, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said this week.

Although many override proposals have been made in the last nine years, until this year, none had ever made it to a vote. Just

Group to push the downtown

By Don Staruk

The Board of Selectmen gave the town manager the go-ahead this week to begin seeking members of a downtown task force that would market the downtown to prospective new merchants.

Despite opposition and questions of legality from Selectman William Downs, four selectmen voted in favor of establishing the group.

Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said it

Residents are required to renew their dog licenses this month. Starting May 1, there will be a $2 "administrative fee" charged each month for an unrenewed dog license.

Town Counsel Al Daniels: town defender

By Don Staruk

The decision to rezone the Raytheon Co. property in West Andover had more impact on this town than any other decision in the last 33 years, according to Al Daniels.

Mr. Daniels, 66, Andover town counsel for the last 18 years, retired earlier this month because of health problems. He retired from his private law practice last December.

Profile

"My back is gone," Mr. Daniels said this week.

Despite the efforts of Massachusetts General Hospital and a chiropractor, he's had pain in his back and legs for a year. He is now trying acupuncture.

Three acupuncture treatments cured a tremble in his hand, according to Mr. Daniels. Now he's hoping it will help his

Tuitions are up at three local private schools

By Lisa Boudreau

A slowed economy, skyrocketing health insurance costs and a high inflation rate are just some of the reasons administrators at local private schools say their tuitions are increasing.

Phillips Academy, Pike School and St. Augustine's School are increasing their tuitions at a higher percentage rate this year than 1990. PA's tuition for both boarding and day students will increase 10 percent. This year's tuition was up 8 percent over the previous year.

Pike School's tuition will increase approximately 10 percent for all grades next year as well. The school has a sliding scale

It's the Clark Brook feud – again

By Don Staruk

A feud among neighbors in Ballardvale surrounding Clark Brook burst forth again Monday when a town highway crew, possibly in violation of the state wetlands law, used town equipment to remove rocks and silt from the stream bed.

The latest battle in the year-long feud over the level of the brook and a drainage culvert at Clark Road started on Monday with a phone call to John Canavan, highway superintendent, from Philip Wormwood, a conservation commissioner, according to Bob McQuade, Department of Public Works director.

Clark Brook

"Somebody had built up a stone dam in front of the culvert," Mr. McQuade said.

The highway crew went down and "took out the dam," according to Mr. McQuade.

But neighbors whose properties abut the brook and culvert area claim the brook naturally backs up to create a pond. They claim the town workers pulled boulders from private property and violated wetlands laws in removing natural siltation from the brook.

The work Monday caused the level of the pond to go down several inches, leaving a large area of exposed muck.

Antoinette Popadak, of 6 Clark Road, lives on a property abutting the brook and culvert area. She said the area becomes infested with mosquitoes when the brook gets drained.

"It's disgusting. You can't even sit out there," Ms. Popadak said Tuesday morning, pointing to her yard.

Russell Labarre, whose mother-in-law, Antoinette Popadak of Clark Road, lives on property that abuts Clark Brook, tells how deep that part of the brook sometimes gets.

It's a pond

The Conservation Commission ruled last year that the area in question was a pond and a wetland area subject to the protection of state wetlands laws. The state Department of Environmental Protection, in November, upheld that finding on an appeal by Richard St. Amand, of 11 Oak St., a neighbor who tries to keep the pond drained.

Mr. McQuade said Tuesday he knew nothing of the highway crew going down to the brook Monday, or whether any laws had been broken. But he said he made sure it won't happen again.

"I issued a directive to everybody that all we are to do is to remove leaves and debris from the culvert. There is no one to do anything else to Clark Brook unless I give the orders," Mr. McQuade said.

He also said he was going to find out if any rocks had been pulled from the embankment on private property and that if they had, they would be replaced.

Police Officer Richard Aumais, who neighbors said observed the town workers at the brook Monday, just happened to drive by and stopped, according to Lt. Richard Enos. Officer Aumais said there were no law violations that he was aware of.

Throwing stones

The gist of the feud is whether the level of the brook, by natural or some other means, has been raised.

Mr. St. Amand claims the blocked culvert raises the brook above its natural level and causes flooding on his property when it forms a pond on the west side of Clark Road.

Ms. Popadak and her neighbors claim a pond existed on the site for 50-60 years and was only drained a few years ago when the town removed a concrete dam while repairing the culvert. Now instead of fish, frogs and ducks, the neighbors claim they get the mosquitoes, a stench and plant growth that aggravates allergies.

A third possibility is that natural siltation, runoff from developments upstream and street sand have filled the original pond so that it no longer exists at the same level.

Bob Pustell, Conservation Commission chairman, said a hydrological study of Clark Brook, commissioned by the town last fall and now complete, will be the subject of a discussion at the commission's meeting on Tuesday, May 7. He said the study could help the commission find a way to appease both sides in the dispute.

"My hope is that we can keep people from each others throats until then," Mr. Pustell said Tuesday.

News In Brief

Raytheon cuts 25 employees

By Don Staruk

Raytheon Co. laid off 25 employees from its Lowell Street plant in the past two weeks, but the action is not part of any larger reduction in the work force, according to Ed Powers, a company spokesman.

"It's a lack of work, part of the ongoing process of balancing manpower with the level of work that exists," Mr. Powers said last Friday.

The layoffs are due to "normal fluctuations" in the work force and Raytheon still employees approximately 6,000 persons in Andover according to Mr. Powers.

Nine employees were laid off in early March. Two weeks ago 12 employees were let go and another 13 were cut last week.

Approximately 200 employees were laid off at the Lowell Street plant last year but most of them were recalled when Raytheon increased production of the Patriot missile during the Persian Gulf War.

The most recent layoffs were assemblers, inspectors, testers and welders in the missiles systems division plant that manufactures the Patriot, Hawk and other missiles for the U.S. government and for export.

Congress has approved funding for additional Patriot missiles, but presidential approval is still required.

Landfill opens in time for spring

By Lisa Boudreau

For many residents, spring cleanup this year has come sooner, due to unseasonably warm weather. The town's landfill on Chandler Road opened last weekend, just in time for residents to dispose of brush, grass clippings, wood chips and logs in four-foot lengths.

No decision has been made on weather the town's composting site on Bald Hill will be open to dispose of leaves, said Bob McQuade, director of public works. He and the town manager will meet later this week to decide if the composing site should be opened and for how long.

Last fall the composting site was open Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Two people who are not town employees were hired last fall at $7 per hour to be at the site. The cost of opening the site was $112 each day, said Jim Bamford, of the municipal maintenance department.

To dump debris at the landfill on Chandler Road residents must purchase a season's permit at the town's treasurer and tax collector's office in the town office building on Bartlet Street. The office is open weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Proof of residence, such as a driver's license or utility bill, is required to purchase a dumping permit. The average cost for a household permit is $10.

Local contractors are required to fill out landfill slips and purchase a permit. Out-of-town contractors will be able to purchase a same-day special permit good for one load only.

The landfill will be open Monday through Friday, 7:30 to 8:30 a.m., and noon to 1 :30 p.m., Wednesday, noon to 3:30 p.m. and Saturday 8 a.m. to 4 :30 p.m.

Voting in the special election

Andover residents who wish to vote on the override of Proposition 2 1/2 in the special election May 6 must be registered.

The town will hold registration Saturday, April 13, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Tuesday, April 16, 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., both at town offices on Bartlet Street. April 16 is the last day to register to vote in the special election.

Post office open late April 16 for tax filings

The post office at Old Town Hall on Main Street will remain open until 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 16, to accommodate those who are mailing their tax returns.

Andover Post Master Tony Mendoza said that the government has granted an extra day for returns to be mailed because the 15th, normally tax due date, is a holiday

Real estate taxes are due May 1

Fourth-quarter real estate taxes have been mailed and are due May 1. Taxes unpaid after that date will be subject to the 14 percent interest charges.

Taxes can be paid Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. April 22 and 29.

Those with questions on the tax amount due should contact the tax office at 470-3800.

Two 11-year-olds win prize for library work

The Giraffe Project, a national non-profit organization that inspires people to stick their necks out for the common good, has commended Janine Givens and Lee Palmer of Andover for spearheading a campaign to open Andover's public library to young learners despite opposition from the library and community inertia.

In the spring of 1990, Janine Givens and Lee Palmer, both 11 years old, took on Memorial Hall Library, the library board of trustees, the Board of Selectmen, and many private citizens.

The children asked for a change of the policy barring children younger than seventh-graders equal access to public library facilities. They started by writing and circulating a petition among third-, fourth- and fifth-grade students at South Elementary School.

For four months, they gave radio, television, and newspaper interviews, nervously but steadfastly refusing to back down. Finally, in September 1990, with support from the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union, they succeeded in getting the policy changed.

This walk is for the birds

The Merrimack Valley Bird Club has planned some spring bird walks, including one in Andover on Sunday, April 28, at 7 p.m. at Pomp's Pond. Meet at the entrance to Recreation Park on Abbot Street. Leader is Dana Duxbury and assistants are Al Retelle and Tom Andrew.

Parents complain about the fees

School Committee sticks to adding busing fees

By Lisa Boudreau

The School Committee is going ahead with busing fees next year despite numerous phone calls from parents voicing their opposition to the unprecedented fees for the town.

Students who live less than a mile and a half from school will pay $206 if they want to ride the bus and those who live between that distance and two miles away will pay $119.

The town is only required to provide cost-free transportation to children who live more than two miles from their school. The fees will make up the difference in state reimbursement funds.

Committee member Susan Poore, who along with Richard Hubbell voted against the fees, asked the committee Tuesday night to reconsider implementing the fees next year. Ms. Poore said she had received numerous calls from parents who were "very upset" by the idea of adding the fees.

"The fees fall on a very narrow group of people. There is no guarantee the committee will get the money it believes the fees will generate," said Ms. Poore, who believes some parents may choose to drive their children to school instead of paying the fee.

She also has questioned if the bookkeeping involved in adding busing fees will be more of a nightmare than it will be worth.

> 'The fees fall on a very narrow group of people. There is no guarantee the committee will get the money it believes the fees will generate.'
> Susan Poore

"I question if all this ill will is worth it," she added.

Because Ms. Poore voted against the policy change, she couldn't call for a vote Tuesday night to consider rescinding the fees. None of the three members who voted for the fees, Chairman Andres Salazar, Christopher Outwin and Susan Jenkins, wished to reconsider the fees.

Dr. Salazar said though it is always possible to do away with the fees in the future if the financial picture improves, it is necessary to move forward now so the planning will be in place for next fall.

Currently the administration plans to issue photo identification cards to all students who will ride buses to school next year. Those students who are subject to busing fee will receive cards when the fees are paid.

Manager advised to open library Sundays

By Don Staruk

Selectmen Monday night advised Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, to do "everything possible" to see that the library opens on Sundays.

Gerald Silverman, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said he received telephone calls from residents expressing concern that Mr. Stapczynski did not intend to comply with the motion approved at Town Meeting to keep the library open on Sundays. Selectman Charles Wesson received similar calls.

Mr. Stapczynski last week said the April 1 Town Meeting vote on the library hours was not a mandate but a "sense" of what the voters wanted. He said that, while he would try to comply with the intent of the vote, the Town Meeting action does not set policy for boards and committees.

Mr. Stapczynski reaffirmed that position with the selectmen Monday night, but said he would attend the library's trustees meeting Tuesday, April 16, to discuss how the Sunday hours could be maintained.

The library staffing budget was cut by $77,000. Closing the facility on Friday nights and Sundays afternoons was one of the ways to deal with those cuts, according to Mr. Stapczynski.

Mr. Silverman said that, whether the Town Meeting action was legal or not, the community wants the library open Sundays and the town should do everything possible to comply with that wish.

The library will close on Sunday afternoons for the summer, as usual, the week after school gets out in June, according to Mr. Stapczynski.

"We will do what we can to have it reopen the weekend after school opens in September," the town manager told the board.

College honors Joseph Glasser for leadership

Joseph Glasser

The Northern Essex Community College board of trustees voted unanimously at a meeting last week to award the third annual Northern Essex Leadership Award to Joseph Glasser of Andover, a retired Raytheon vice president, special adviser to Northern Essex President John Dimitry, and community volunteer.

The award is presented annually to an individual from the region served by the college who has made an outstanding contribution to the community and distinguished his or herself as a leader.

Recipients are selected on the basis of their contribution to the college, contribution to the economic or cultural betterment of the community, participation in community and civic activities, leadership abilities and evidence of personal achievement.

"Joe Glasser was selected for this award because of the significant contributions that he has made to the college, his commitment to community service and his exceptional career in the private sector with the Raytheon Company," said Marjorie Goudreault, chairwoman of the college's board of trustees. "He has distinguished himself as a true leader through his intelligence, vision and willingness to share his considerable talents."

A graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Mr. Glasser joined the Raytheon Co. as plant superintendent and manager of industrial engineering at the company's Waltham plant in 1945 and retired as corporate vice president and plant manager of the Raytheon Missile Systems Division in Andover in 1979.

Mr. Glasser played a key role in the development and manufacture of the Hawk and Patriot missiles.

After retiring from Raytheon, he began a second career at Northern Essex Community College, serving as the first director of the college's Center for Business and Industry from 1979 to 1985 and special adviser to the president from 1985 to the present.

Mr. Dimitry credits Mr. Glasser with providing the foundation for the college's Center for Business and Industry, which currently services hundreds of area businesses with skills and management training, and playing a critical role in securing a Lawrence campus for the college.

"It was the college's lucky day when Joe Glasser offered his services after retiring from Raytheon," he said. "He used his business contacts and knowledge of education and training issues to get our Center for Business and Industry off the ground. And he has contributed greatly to several significant college projects in recent years, most importantly our Lawrence campus."

Mr. Glasser is a trustee for Holy Family Hospital in Methuen, trustee emeritus for Worcester Polytechnic Institute, trustee for Memorial Library of Andover, former director of the Lawrence Boys' Club, overseer of Lawrence General Hospital and director of the Greater Haverhill Chamber of Commerce.

He has been recognized with several awards and honors, including an honorary doctorate degree from the University of Lowell in 1974, the Robert H. Goddard Award for "Outstanding Professional Achievement" from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1978, and an Outstanding Civilian Service Medal from the United States Army in 1979.

"We created this award to single out those individuals who have used their talents for the betterment of the community and others," said Daniel Beauregard, Northern Essex trustee and chairmen of the committee which nominated candidates for the Leadership Award. "Joe Glasser has made a difference at Raytheon, at the college and in his community, and this is why he was selected for this year's award."

The college will present the Leadership Award at a luncheon in Mr. Glasser's honor on Friday, May 10.

COOKING

Let them eat flower petals

By Maria Moskos

Spring is finally here and for many that means choosing flower and vegetable seeds, annual and perennial flowering plants and vegetable flats for the garden.

For those with special culinary interests, this should also be a time to consider which edible herbs and flowers would add interest, flavor and color to your menu as well as attractive garnishes for your presentation. It is important to be knowledgeable about which flowers and herbs are edible as well as maximum recommended amounts.

Flowers that have been treated with most chemicals should not be ingested. Labels should be carefully read to determine the safe time to ingest parts of edible plants after using appropriate fertilizers.

Commercially grown flowers (unless specifically stated) are usually not safe to eat as they are grown for their aesthetic qualities.

Flowers have been used for culinary purposes for centuries. The Romans introduced many of the herbs we eat today and used violets, roses, gladioli bulbs and lavender. Shakespeare made many references to flowers for culinary use.

Edible flowers can be used crystallized for decoration, pounded for flavored sugars, reserved for jellies and jams, made into syrups, conserves, liqueurs and wines. They can be used in tarts and custards, fresh in salads and incorporated into soups and stews.

In China and Japan flowers are used for scented teas and lily buds are used extensively. Chrysanthemums are used in an Oriental hot pot with vegetables, fish and poultry.

To order edible seeds and flowers and receive their complete culinary information, call or write: New England Wildflower Society, Garden in the Woods, Hemenway Road, Framingham, Mass. 01701, (617) 237-4924.

Understanding Chiropractic

REMAINING ACTIVE AGAINST BONE LOSS

A recent Canadian study suggests that children now have one more reason to remain active throughout their young years. Such activities as running, jumping, climbing, skipping and hopping seem to increase bone density, thereby providing a prescription for helping to avert the bone-thinning effects of osteoporosis later in life. This notion comes as a result of surveying over 100 women, with an average age of 28, to describe their activity levels during their childhood's. Researchers then measured the bone-density of their heels in an effort to detect bone loss. It was found that those women who were most active as children had significantly higher bone densities as women. Furthermore, those women who maintained high activity levels (exercising at least three times per week for 20 minutes) had a greater mean bone mass than those who did not.

Because events in childhood have such a far-reaching impact on stages later in life, it is critically important that your child receive the best health care possible. Musculoskeletal misalignments and imbalances are more easily treated during these important formative years. We welcome your entire family to the DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP. We're located at 15 Central Street. For more information or an appointment, please call 475-5042.

P.S. Active children deserves regular chiropractic checkups to insure that misalignments due to bumps and strains are corrected.

Students bring new ideas to old objects

Lawrence Mayor Kevin Sullivan will host a reception Thursday, April 11, from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to celebrate the opening of the newest member of the Massachusetts Recycle Center Network, the Creative Resource Center at 439 Haverhill St., Lawrence.

The Creative Resource Center will be open to teachers, day-care providers and youth organizations Tuesdays from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 4 to 6 p.m. beginning April 16.

The new center is a collaborative effort of the Institute for Self Active Education, Essex County Association for the Education of the Young Child and Lawrence public school system. It's also a cooperative relationship between the business sector, schools, day-care centers and other community organizations.

Plastics, Styrofoam, paper, fabrics, wood, and non-toxic products industries would pay to dispose of will be offered to anyone who cares to choose from the piles of supplies. Because these materials have no specific use, they spark the imaginations of children and teachers alike, organizers said.

The Creative Resource Center is a non-profit venture supported by local grants and gifts. Businesses that would like to make a donation of materials should call Jack Fascione at 686-7816.

Demystifying Mozart

Soprano Karin Foglesang and Mr. Maher sing a duet for Sanborn students. The pair proved opera doesn't have to be boring. Their appearance was one of Sanborn's enrichment activities, which recently invited several kids' authors.

Andover High School was represented by four students: Betsy Taylor, Tanya Tamarkin and Marcus DeLoach in the chorus and Ben Medler in the jazz band.

Each student had to be selected to perform in his or her respective northeast district group. Based on their district scores, the students were allowed to audition for the All-State groups.

The All-State chorus was conducted by Mallorie Chernin, director of the Amherst College Choral Society. The All-State Jazz Ensemble was lead by Ellen Rowe, jazz studies director at the University of Connecticut.

Thomas O'Toole from the Andover music department was assistant band manager. The Andover High Chorus is directed by Robert A. Lague and the Andover High Band and Jazz Band are directed by Marc Keroack.

High school chorus goes on the road

By Douglas A. Gordon

A group of Andover High School students took flight to Orlando, Fla., recently. The 46 students were part of the school's chorus, which began its annual concert tour March 14.

After a fun flight, the singers touched down in Orlando and headed to Universal Studios. After going on a space ride with the Jetsons, being attacked by King Kong, surviving an earthquake and narrowly escaping a 30-foot marshmallow man, alto Holly Donohue said, "I had an awesome time. Everything looked so realistic."

The next day, on a mission dubbed "Operation Sunshine," the chorus arrived at the Magic Kingdom of Walt Disney World.

The chorus performed at the Tomorrowland Theater in front of an enthusiastic audience.

Choral Director Bob Lague said he was impressed with the performance, for which the chorus had been practicing for months. After the show the young musicians were free to explore the theme park. Thunder Mountain and the Haunted Mansion were two of the favorite destinations.

"Disney World brings you back to your childhood and the innocence that was lost as you matured," said bass Greg Haley.

The group awoke the following morning with hopes of a wonderful day at Sea World. But these hopes were crushed as "Operation Sunshine" changed to "Operation Overcast." Cloudy skies and rainy weather made for a wet performance where audience attendance was severely diminished.

Despite the rain, students were able to get a peak at Shamu, feed the dolphins and see many of the animal shows.

Brian McDougall and Nicholas Saunders, students at Christ Church Children's Center, prepare for takeoff after learning about the wide galaxy they live in.

Students reach for the stars

What can you see through a telescope? How does a telescope work? These were some of the questions the children at Christ Church Children's Center asked Paul Domigan of Andover when he took his homemade telescope into the classroom.

Mr. Domigan talked about how stars are born and let each child look through the telescope. His visit was the highlight of a unit on space.

The children made their own space ships and helmets and created their own mission control in the classroom.

On the day of their "trip," they donned their space gear, did a countdown and took off for the moon. They landed on the moon just in time to have a snack, and they all landed safely back on earth.

Kids hop for Easter Seals

Youngsters from Christ Church Children's Center hopped the week of Feb. 7, raising $781 in an Easter Seal Hop-n-ing to help people with disabilities.

The children spent the previous week learning about disabilities.

They secured pledges for every hop performed in three-minutes. The funds raised help provide Easter Seal services.

YOUTH LINE

Dear Youth Line:

I have a real problem. My name is X and I'm confused about my life. I have no friends and I'm always alone. You would think after 18 years I would be used to this, but I have realized that I am very lonely. I hate being alone every weekend. What should I do to increase my social life?

Lonely X, looking for Y and Z

Dear X:

If you're 18 you'll be starting a new experience soon if it's work or college. Find something you really enjoy doing, and join a group with people who have similar interests like a club or sports team.

Open up and be friendly. If you seem always sad or quiet people might get the impression that you want to be alone or maybe even that you're a snob!

Practice starting conversations: It gets easier the more you practice, and it lets people know you're interested in having a friend.

Peer counselor

Dear X:

Get involved in some activities. Call the YMCA or Andover's Department of Community Services and find some activity that interests you. If you're involved in an activity, class or project, you will meet other people and you will not be as lonely.

Psychologist

Dear X:

Your letter is sad, and while I'm worried about you, part of what I think I hear is that you're simply learning something about life often it's lonely.

But I agree with the peer counselor's answer: Get involved; go to the library; join a group; ask for a membership at a club or Y for your birthday; take some sort of art class or whatever turns you on so you can spend some time being creative.

Perhaps you need some counseling. But don't sit at home and feel sorry for yourself.

Andover man honored at Central Catholic

Central Catholic High School will honor Lawrence P. Morrisroe of Andover for his service to the school and the Greater Lawrence community.

Mr. Morrisroe, recently retired senior vice president and treasurer of Shawmut Arlington Trust, will receive the Daniel F. Cahill Memorial Award at Central Catholic's Men's Guild annual dinner Thursday, April 11.

The dinner will be held at Bishop's Restaurant in Lawrence. Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., and dinner will start at 6:30.

Outgoing Principal Brother Kenneth V. Hogan will be the guest speaker.

Named in honor of the founder of the Men's Guild, the Cahill Award will be presented by guild president John J. Willis of North Andover and past president Daniel F. Cahill Jr. of Lawrence.

Also in attendance will be Mrs. Daniel F. Cahill and William Lane of Andover, chairman of Central Catholic's board of director.

Local cast stars in high school musical

Liz Zompa of Andover, a junior at St. Mary's High School in Lawrence, had the title role in Annie last weekend.

The Central Catholic High School Theatre Guild closed its 21st season with the musical.

The production included more than 60 students from Central Catholic, St. Mary's and Presentation of Mary Academy in Methuen.

The role of Annie was double cast; Ms. Zompa shared the part with a student from Presentation of Mary Academy.

Other Andover cast members are Central Catholic's Dan Prudhomme and St. Mary's Chrissy Felago.

Annie, which is set in 1933, still "has many messages for today," said director Paul Lamontagne.

Scouts collect food for shelter

Sanborn Elementary School's fifth-grade Junior Girl Scout Troop #212 is sponsoring a food drive for Lazarus House in Lawrence. Girl Scout leaders Phyllis Dalby and Dora Volpe are asking the families of Sanborn and other Andover residents to make food donations.

Mrs. Dalby, who works in Lawrence assisting people who are in need of the services provided by Lazarus House, says the situation is desperate because of budget cuts.

Lazarus House shelter receives between 800 and 900 referrals of homeless individuals and families each month. Another 2,500 people go monthly to the Good Shepherd Day Center for assistance, and St. Martha's food pantry provides supplemental monthly food orders to more than 100 families.

Food boxes have been placed in the front lobby of Sanborn School with a delivery made to Lazarus House every two weeks.

The programs need canned vegetables, especially peas, mixed vegetables, carrots, string beans, corn, wax beans and potatoes. Baked beans as well as canned macaroni products would be helpful, in addition to canned soups, tuna fish, hash, beef stew, Spam, tomato sauce, jellies, peanut butter, muffin and cake mixes.

Scouts' Council celebrates 10th anniversary

Girl Scouts have set aside Saturday, April 13, to celebrate Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council's 10th birthday.

Close to 3,000 Girl Scouts and their families are expected to gather at the Topsfield Fairgrounds.

Exhibits, activity stations and guest speakers will help the Scouts celebrate.

The council serves 11,500 girls in 53 communities in northeastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire.

The Andover Townsman's school calendar lists goings-on for students and their families. See page 19.

High school chorus goes on the road

On March 17, the chorus had a choice of seeing either Epcot Center or the Disney-MGM Studios.

Those who went to Epcot were treated to a sneak preview of the future and a journey into their imaginations.

Lucky guests were able to visit with Mickey, Minnie and the rest of the Disney gang. After touring the World Showcase that presented a look at countries such as France, Mexico and England, people gathered to witness a spectacular fireworks and laser show.

Those who went to MGM were treated to another day of movie-making. Star Tours and the Great Movie Ride were popular rides. Bass Tapia said, "Wow!" after playing a part in TV's General Hospital

The chorus had a great time, and plans are being made for next year's trip.

Tenor Kramer O'Neill summed up: "It rained. It was cool. I enjoyed it. It rained."

Douglas A. Gordon is a junior tenor in the Andover High Chorus.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

All children's auto restraints must now meet new federal safety standards. Even the safest auto restraint must be used correctly if it is to provide protection. The baby must always be secured in the restraint and the restraint itself must always be secured to the car with an adult lap belt. When shopping for an auto restraint, ask to see the instruction booklet and be sure the restraint will fit properly in your car. If possible, try it out before buying. Most restraints made today are the "convertible" type. That is, they can be used with infants and then converted for use with older babies and young children.

You will enjoy seeing the beautiful selection of baby things at TINY TOTLAND. Leading brand name furniture including Simmons, Cunningham, Bassett & Morgenroth. House tour makes Andover stops

The Ladies of Merrimack will hold their major fund-raiser, a tour of four houses called "Spring in the Andovers," Saturday, May 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will make two stops in Andover: the Margolis and Stapfer homes.

The Stapfers have a custom-designed kitchen and passive sun area. A center fireplace is accessible from the dining room and living room, which is sunken.

The Margolis home, built around 1950 in the cape style, has had major renovations and additions, all of which were designed by the current owner's architect son.

Tickets for the house tour are $10 and may be purchased in town at Andover Flower Shoppe and Andover Bookstore. They're also at Hay Scales Exchange in North Andover.

Gardeners get ready for spring

"Perennials for Yesterday and Today" is the title of a day-long symposium sponsored by the Stevens-Coolidge Place Saturday, April 13, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Old Center Hall, 3 Great Pond Road in North Andover. It will include sessions by several New England horticulturists.

Parishioners kick up their heels Sunday

"How Do We Know What We Know?" is the title of this Sunday's 10:30 a.m. service at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover. The Rev. David B. Parke will preach on discernment.

"We use our senses to understand and manage the world," explains Rev. Parke. "Is there a world we do not know and cannot manage?"

The issues raised by Rev. Parke will receive a response from special guest Sarah Gregory Smith of Salem. Reactions and discussion from church members and visitors will follow.

A potluck luncheon will follow the service. Mrs. Smith and her husband, Bill, will lead an all church family contra dance after lunch.

There will be a $3 charge for individual adults and $6 for families.

Church school is open to children ages 3 and older. A nursery is available for children under 3. The church is located at 6 Locke St.

Theologian to speak tonight

The Rev. Richard McCormick S.J., O'Brien Professor of Ethics and an internationally recognized moral theologian and ethicist, will deliver the fifth annual Newman Lecture at the University of Lowell.

Father McCormick will discuss "100 Years of Catholic Social Teaching" Thursday, April 11, at 8 p.m. in the O'Leary Media Center, which is located in the university's south campus library, near the intersection of Wilder and Broadway streets in Lowell.

The Catholic Church began to focus on the moral/ethical dimensions of social issues in 1891 with the publication of "The Condition of Labor" by Pope Leo XIII in which he spoke out against the inhuman conditions that were the plight of working people in industrial societies, said the Rev. Paul Garrity of the ULowell Catholic Center.

"Since that time, the Catholic church has called its membership and all people of good will to standards of behavior that put people before things and profits and which maximize human dignity in all contexts," Father Garrity said.

Since 1891, the Catholic Church has been involved with the labor movement, civil rights, human rights and ecology, he added. The Newman Lecture will discuss this tradition and the ethical/moral challenges of the modern world.

The lecture is open to the public.

Church holds fund-raiser for roof repairs

A Cajun dinner and dance will benefit Haverhill's Universalist Unitarian Church, home of New Moon Coffeehouse. The church needs money for roof repair and a handicapped-accessible restroom.

The dinner, which will be held Friday, April 12, will offer chicken gumbo, shrimp and chicken jambalaya, corn bread, salad, pecan pie and beverage followed by the music of the Crawdad Wranglers and dancing, including dance instruction.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., and the dancing starts at 8:30. Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance at the church office: $15 for dinner and dancing, $10 dancing only and $7 for children under 14.

Temple plans service of song

Temple Emanuel will celebrate Jewish Music Season with a special musical service Friday, April 12, at 8:15 p.m.

Cantor Donn Rosensweig will conduct and sing with the volunteer adult choir. They will be accompanied by a student string quartet from Phillips Academy, consisting of Noy Thrupkaew, Cynthia Miller, Colm Gallagher and Sandra Miller as well as the temple's organist, Holly Fisher-Perlman.

The musical offering, "Hegyon Libi" ("The Meditations of My Heart") was composed by Michael Isaacson in 1969 while a student at the Eastman School of Music. It has been performed in synagogues throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and Israel.

Cantor Rosensweig has been singing in synagogues for 12 years. He attended Hebrew Union College of Sacred Music in New York, graduating and becoming invested as a cantor in 1985.

During the past four years, he has participated in the "Cantors in Concert" musical evening for the benefit of Rashi School in Newton, as well as a yearly concert on Cape Cod to assist Hebrew Union College and the American Conference of Cantors, for which he is the New England representative.

"It contains elements that are simple and beautifully melodic," said Cantor Rosensweig in describing Friday's service. "In part it is rough, rhythmically exciting and discordant. The diverse sounds of solo voices, chorus, strings and organ provide much greater variety than a traditional Shabbat service."

The community is invited to Temple Emanuel, 7 Haggetts Pond Road, for the service of song.

Mormon church adds missionaries

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has added several Spanish-speaking missionaries as part of its formation of a Spanish branch in the Merrimack Valley.

Currently residing in Lawrence, Kelly Tolman attended Ricks College in Idaho as well as Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

She arrived with Laura Call, who has been a member of the Mormon church all her life and has completed three years at BYU. Before arriving in the Lawrence area, Sister Call served for three months in Quito, Ecuador.

Residing in North Andover but working within the area Spanish community are Elders Marshall and Jeremy Graffam. Elder Marshall was born in Dawson Creek, British Columbia, and has worked in a sawmill in Canada and in the construction industry.

Elder Graffam served in Uruguay, South America, for a year before coming to the Merrimack Valley.

In Haverhill, Brian Beus is far from his Orem, Utah, family. He completed two years at BYU with an emphasis on computers and calculus.

Steven Thornley, serving with Elder Beus, was born and raised in Salt Lake City. Prior to his mission, Elder Thornley plans a career in media communications following his studies at the University of Utah.

Group seeks outstanding women

The search is on for outstanding women to be honored at the Tribute to Women in Industry Awards luncheon May 15.

The Greater Lawrence YWCA asks Merrimack Valley companies to nominate women colleagues to be recognized for their accomplishments at the eighth annual TWIN luncheon at the Andover Country Club.

Former State Rep. Susan Tucker is chairwoman and mistress of ceremonies for the event.

Nearly 200 area women in business, professions and industry have been honored since 1983.

Ten top achievers are chosen from the nominees each year for special recognition. They are picked by a committee representing a cross section of the professional community.

Last year's honorees included Eartha Dengler, director of Immigrant City Archives; attorney Debbie Bolan, first woman president of the Lawrence Bar Association; and Priscilla Cubelli, first vice president of the former Shawmut Arlington Trust Co.

Nomination forms are available at the YWCA and are due April 19.

The annual award is designed to let businesses and organizations publicly recognize the achievements of women in the work force and allow the YWCA to identify and honor career role models.

Tickets for the luncheon are $35 each or $325 for a table of 10. Ticket confirmation deadline is May 1.

Al Daniels: Andover's chief defender back. In the meantime, he will make himself available to Andover and other municipalities and do whatever work he can.

"I'm gong to do some consulting work," he said.

Mr. Daniels earned an undergraduate degree in history from Colgate University in 1942 before joining the Navy and serving with the Office of Special Services in China during World War II. He graduated from Harvard Law School in 1948 and started a practice in Lawrence with Frederick O'Brien, Andover's former town counsel.

"He was the first town counsel of Andover under the town manager form of government," Mr. Daniels said of his former law partner. "That was 1958."

Mr. Daniels assisted Mr. O'Brien with town business and took over as the full-time town counsel himself in 1972.

"I think I probably have the longest reign as town counsel," Mr. Daniels said. "The former town counsel and I have probably saved this town, to the penny, 10 million bucks."

Mr. Daniels, who lives at 70 Porter Road, said that it wasn't until he began cleaning out his files to turn them over to the town that he realized how many battles he's fought for the town.

He estimated that he handled about 50 cases a year for the town, mostly as the defendant, and most of which he won. The losses were few.

"I would say less than 1 percent, honestly," he said.

Andover was lucky to get two experienced trial lawyers, he and Mr. O'Brien, both with good track records, according to Mr. Daniels.

"We were very hard to beat in the courtroom," he said.

At the April 1 Town Meeting,Town Counsel Al Daniels, right, receives a thank-you in the form of a plaque from the town, presented by Gerald Silverman, chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

Important cases

The most important cases Mr. Daniels dealt with for the town, in his opinion, have involved development.

"The Raytheon zoning was one of the big things in this town," Mr. Daniels said.

That decision to rezone the residential property along Interstate 93, south of Lowell Street, to an Industrial A area was appealed all the way up to the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

"And the town was sustained," Mr. Daniels said.

"That was a big case and putting in the West Andover sewer line, that brought in the Hewlett-Packards and the rest of them," he said. "It brought all the industry in here."

The sewer line was opposed by conservationists, according to Mr. Daniels, who just didn't want to see the areas developed. But Mr. Daniels said he thinks those two decisions were good for the town.

"If you were to model a town in a classroom, I don't think you'd go wrong picking Andover," he said.

The layout of the town, with the industry in the I-93 corridor, and the "terrific" water supply are two of Andover's strengths, he said. But Mr. Daniels, who was raised in Marblehead, said there is something else that has always made Andover special.

"What makes this town something is the academy," he said, referring to Phillips Academy.

Anywhere in the world you can mention Andover and people know it's where Phillips Academy is, Mr. Daniels said. All of his and his wife, Nancy's four children attended Phillips.

Mr. Daniels praised Ken Seifert, the recently retired school superintendent, but said somewhat jokingly that Dr. Seifert was always mad at him for sending his kids to Pike School and Phillips Academy instead of Andover schools.

Tough act to follow

Mr. Daniels himself said he will be a tough act to follow as town counsel because of the experience in municipal law he brought with him to the job.

He was a municipal assistant from 1958 to 1972, so the town laws were not difficult for him to decipher when he took over. The person who comes in next will spend a lot of time just getting familiar with those laws, he predicted.

The most significant recent change in those laws that will have an impact on all towns was the 1985 loss of "sovereign immunity," according to Mr. Daniels. Sovereign immunity protected towns from being sued. That change created a great liability for municipalities, he said.

Mr. Daniels did not have a lot to say about Ken Mahony, the eight-year town manager who resigned last year, but he praised Buzz Stapczynski, Mr. Mahony's replacement.

"He's a very even tempered, understanding type of town manager," Mr. Daniels said.

He also praised the former assessor, Bill Russell, who resigned while Mr. Mahony was still manager.

He and Mr. Russell "never lost a case on the appellate tax board," Mr. Daniels said.

Made friends

Mr. Daniels made some close friends while working for the town, including Elden Salter, former town clerk, James Johnson, police chief, and Mike Muise, town treasurer and tax collector for the last 25 years.

"He's a great friend," Mr. Muise said this week.

"I always remember that he was just a phone call away, always willing to help," The treasurer said.

Mr. Muise went to court with Mr. Daniels only once in the entire 25 years.

"The only house that the town ever foreclosed on. And they ended up paying the taxes, thanks to Al," Mr. Muise said.

"I worked with Al for 20 years," Mr. Salter said Tuesday. "I found him to be as good a town counsel as any town could have."

Mr. Salter praised his friend for not forcing department heads to make requests through the town manager.

"He was always ready to pick up the phone and listen and try to work out the problem," Mr. Salter said.

The former clerk, who worked with Mr. Salter closest when preparing the warrant for town meetings, also praised Mr. Daniels for being cautious.

"He never tried to answer things off the top of his head, which is dangerous," Mr. Salter said. "I couldn't have asked for a better man when the chips were down. He deserves every bit of praise or pats on the back that we can give him."

Mr. Daniels is a big Red Sox fan and the four friends get together to go in to Boston for a baseball game every year. They will continue that tradition as long as they all are able, Mr. Muise said.

With his retirement, maybe Mr. Daniels will make time for more Red Sox games.

Tuitions are up at area schools for each of its grades, pre-kindergarten through nine. The previous year's tuition increased about 7 percent.

St. A's tuition for students of St. Augustines Church parishioners has the smallest increase next year, 9 percent, about 1 percent more than the previous year's jump. St. A's has three different tuitions: for contributing members to the parish in town, for contributing members of other Catholic parishes and for noncontributors.

PA Headmaster Donald McNemar said the major factor facing every budget is the sluggish economy.

"Every business in the Northeast is hit with budget problems. Schools are being asked to do more with fewer resources," said Dr. McNemar.

He cited skyrocketing costs in faculty medical insurance, fuel and utility costs and the effect a slowed economy has had on the school's endowment's ability to keep generating the same amount of money.

"Schools are being asked to do more today, everything from drug and alcohol prevention to counseling. That takes more people, which costs more," he said.

Phillips' spring edition of The Andover Bulletin has an-almost-page-long list of cuts the trustees approved in January for the 1991-'92 budget. "The budget reflected their determination to continue to increase faculty benefits, approximate needs-blind admission and renew the physical plant in this time of economic uncertainty," the article stated.

On the expenditure reduction list were: reduce student participation in several off-campus programs, revise adademic counseling program, reduce number of full-time faculty, encourage early retirement, not replace visiting scholars, reduce the number of teaching fellows, not replace some retirees, reduce the prospective compensation increase for faculty from 7.5 to 6 percent, eliminate faculty off-campus rentals, reduce faculty housing moves and eliminate recreational skiing.

Also on the list were eliminate gymnastics over two years, limit the use of consultants in financial and building areas, reduce the number of staff, reduce prospective staff salary increments from 7 to 5 percent and reduce administrative computing and business services. And this is not all of the list.

Public school tuition

Soon, Andover's public schools will charge tuition for out-of-town students, and the fee will be much less than PA and more than St. Augustine's. The School Committee has decided to charge tuition for 50 out-of-town students, in an effort to raise some money. There will be 50 slots at Andover High School next year for paying students. If an override of Proposition 2 1/2 fails at the special election May 6, AHS tuition could be about $5,145. If it passes, tuition would be about $4,770.

Phillips Academy

There are two tuition prices for the 1,200 students at PA. One is for boarding students, $16,060, and one is for day students, $12,265. The price for both will increase 10 percent next year, 2 percent more than the jump the previous year.

"We like to say that we offer everything to day students that we offer boarding students except the bed," said Dr. McNemar.

"Everything" includes all the academic programs that have average class sizes of 14, three meals a day and the opportunity to participate in as many of the school's 40 sports teams as possible, said Dr. McNemar.

The increase in tuition was carefully balanced with the need to maintain the same number of scholarships and financial aid the school offered last year, he said. Approximately 37 percent of the total student body received some financial assistance this school year, 10 percent of whom receive full scholarships.

Pike School

Tuition at Pike School works on a sliding scale. The lowest cost is for the school's pre-kindergarten and kindergarten programs and the highest is for ninth-graders, the highest grade in the school.

Tuition for first-graders is going up 10 percent next year. It went up 7.9 percent last year. The cost for ninth-graders is going up 8.9 percent next year. It went up 13.8 percent last year.

Headmaster David Frothingham said one reason tuition is going up is the school budgeted a 30 percent increase for health insurance but it actually will cost 41 percent more. He said the school has cut employee benefits to make ends meet.

The discrepancies in the tuition increases are due to Pike's recently adopted new tuition scale. Before this school year, Pike had a different tuition rate for every grade.

This year, the school had different rates for pre-kindergarten and kindergarten, grades 1-2, grades 3-5, grades 6-8, and grade 9.

The school's appeal, said Mr. Frothingham, is its rigorous curriculum, low teacher-pupil ratio (16 to 18 students per class) and a supportive atmosphere that encourages students to achieve.

"Some people may call striving for a high level of academic achievement 'pressure,' but I believe our philosophy is to challenge children to achieve beyond normal expectations," he said.

Because Pike is a private school it may have more feedom than public schools in planning courses since certain programs, such as special education (Chapter 766) isn't mandated by the state. Due to the resulting flexibility, Mr. Frothingham said this year Pike has added a darkroom and a photography course. He said there was enough interest in the subject and a teacher willing to instruct the course, so the school converted a storage closet into a darkroom.

Another freedom the school's administration has is not having the tenure law.

"Because we are an independent school we are not locked into tenured staff. The teachers at Pike really have to earn their keep," he said.

St. Augustine's

In 1989, St. A's adopted its three-tiered tuition scale, which depends on if the family attends and contributes to church there, or some other Catholic church, or no Catholic church. St. A's has a total of 430 students in kindergarten through grade eight.

During the past two school years, tuition costs at each tier has increased an average of 9.7 percent. Next year at St. A's, the average tuition increase will be approximately the same.

The out-of-parish II tuition, for those who don't contribute to any Catholic parish, reflects the actual per-student cost to the school each year, said Marie Galinski, principal at St. A's.

The school's commitment to educational basics and its curriculum that stresses Catholic religion and "morals," said Dr. Galinski, are major reasons Catholic and non-Catholic parents choose the school.

The teaching staff is another plus, she said.

"Eighty-five percent of the staff either has their master's degree or are working toward their master's degree," she said.

"We have a very low turnover in out teaching staff, which adds to a sense of consistency in the school community," she added.

Andover High School

Wil Hixon, principal of AHS, believes the school's strong academic programs will attract parents and students from out of town.

"Ninety-eight percent of the school's graduating seniors go on to some post secondary education and 73 percent are admitted to their first choice in colleges," he said.

Courses taught by two or more teachers of different subjects, such as American studies, Odyssey, humanities and the school's eight advanced placement classes are also a big draw, he said.

Strong academics aren't the only reasons students would want to go to Andover high, said Mr. Hixon. Extracurricular activities and athletics are also strong points at AHS.

"There are 27 active clubs here. That to me is also part of an education and why people would want to go to school here," he said.

Can an override win on the ballot?

last year a school override was withdrawn on the floor of town meeting before the vote.

Now one was approved at the April 1 Town Meeting meeting and is on the ballot, as required by the rules of Proposition 2 1/2, for approval.

Andover voters will have to decide May 6 whether to spend $1.5 million above and beyond the $54 million budget for 1992 already approved at the April 1 Town Meeting .

Approximately $1.4 million of the override money would pay for school employee salaries and the other $100,000 would be for "other expenses" in the schools.

The override would, for the average homeowner with a $250,000 home, mean a permanent increase of about $105 per year to their tax bill. That $105 is not just a one-shot expense. The override money, if it passes, is permanently added to Andover's budget base that is allowed to rise by 2 1/2 percent each year.

But first the question needs to win on the ballot and whether it is successful or not depends on who will come out to vote.

Who will vote?

Bill Dalton, owner of the Andover Bookstore, a former selectman and former town moderator, said opponents of the override who did not attend town meeting are more apt to come out to the polls.

"Some of the people who thought the issue would be defeated at Town Meeting, and were lazy and didn't go to Town Meeting because they thought they'd have a second shot at it, will now have a second shot at it," Mr. Dalton said.

While supporters of the override have a core group of people who were able to organize support of the override proposal at Town Meeting, that is not the case with the opponents, according to Mr. Dalton.

"The people that are against it are not as cohesive a group as those in support," he said.

> 'Some of the people who thought the issue would be defeated at Town Meeting, and were lazy and didn't go to Town Meeting because they thought they'd have a second shot at it.'
> Bill Dalton

Supporters of the override include those with children in the schools. But they also include people who believe spending money on education is directly related to quality education. Mr. Dalton said he falls into that group.

People who do not have children in the schools are more inclined, as a group, not to vote for the override, according to Mr. Dalton. This group includes the elderly who, Mr. Dalton said, generally support Proposition 2 1/2.

Both groups have those who believe the quality of education in Andover is directly related to property values. But the flip side of that argument is that fiscal responsibility, or the lack of it, also has an effect on values.

How many will vote?

Andover has 18,000 registered voters, but only about a third of those will show up at the polls on May 6, Mr. Dalton predicted.

"It's a local issue and if you get 30 percent out for a local issue you're doing well," he said. "I assume we'll be somewhere close to that."

Randy Hanson, town clerk, is prepared for anything.

"I bought enough ballots for everybody," Ms. Hanson said Monday night.

Will it pass?

"It's going to be a little more difficult for the people in favor of the override," Mr. Dalton said. "My guess is it's not going to go, but I'm in favor of it."

RECYCLE

Look for the blue barrels

By Virginia Cole

Watch for bright blue barrels at the soccer and little league fields, Penguin Park and other areas where you see green barrels for trash.

The bright blue ones mean recycling. If you bring plastic or glass water, juice or Gatorade jugs to the field or any aluminum or plastic drink containers, you don't want to take home, please put them in the blue barrel. This will cut down on the disposal cost as well as get you and all the kids educated in this society where everything sooner or later must be separated.

The incinerator won't take those plastic or cans very much longer, so start now. Blue barrel, like the blue bin at home, is for recycling.

Hold on to leaves

If you can hold on to your leaves for a week or so, there may be directions on what to do with them. Putting them out for the trash man is $65 per ton. The town is working on a solution.

Pay-as-you-throw sounds like a good slogan. It isn't original but perhaps Seattle wouldn't mind our borrowing it. With all the excitement of Town Meeting the idea of paying for only your trash disposal instead of the trash of those people up the street who must be spring housecleaning all year seemed to disappear.

The methods to make this work are many but stickers affixed to your trash bag is an easy way. You buy the stickers, or maybe the town would even give you one per week and you are to put these on each container of trash you put out each week.

If you had a large item to dispose of, there could be a list of how many stickers per sofa or mattress or refrigerator. The cost of these stickers should equal the cost of disposal.

The town could decide whether to pay some part of this disposal by giving one sticker for each week or having everyone pay all his disposal costs. I've heard of some families who have now taken the challenge of only one bag per week. I wish I had red stars for them but hurrah anyway.

Task force to push Andover's downtown will take him four to six weeks to make recommendations to the selectmen, for their approval of members for the committee.

The task force, as it has been called by Planning Board members who recommended the idea, will be comprised of a member of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Center Merchants Association, a local banker, a local realtor and three town residents, two who live near the Central Business District area and one from the town at large.

The selectmen opted not to have either a member of their board or a member of the Planning Board included as members of the group for fear of any conflict of interest. Each of the two boards will have a liaison to the group.

The task force, its membership and its duties will be the subject of discussion at the next couple of selectmen meetings.

AMC plans a three-mile walk

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club invites the public to join an easy three-mile walk Sunday, April 14, along the shore of Lake Cochichewick and up Weir Hill in North Andover.

Meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Trustees of Reservation sign off Stevens Street in North Andover.

Call Lomer Pothier or Fred Snell for information.

Hold onto your bagged leaves

It's a shame that the town wasn't ready for the fact that residents were out in great numbers, raking leaves last weekend.

If you were like hundreds of other Andoverites last weekend, you were inspired by the lovely weather to rake leaves. And if you walked around town late Sunday or Monday morning, you would have seen hundreds of plastic bags full of leaves, set at curbside for the garbage collectors to remove.

Had the leaf composting site at Bald Hill been opened, residents would have had a better place to dump their leaves. Now those leaves have been added to the garbage tonnage that Andover pays to remove. The leaves could have been put to good use – recycled, added to gardens after they'd decayed and become excellent fertilizer.

The good news is that the landfill site off Chandler Road is open so residents can dump sticks and grass clippings, but we still need to be able to dump leaves, which can then be re-used.

But Bob McQuade, director of public works, and others dragged their feet and failed to be ready for the leaves. In fact, it seems that town officials are trying to decide even if they should open the composting site again.

We urge them to do so. Last year we paid a couple of people very little an hour to monitor the site. Yes, the town is watching its pocketbook, but this is a case in which it is prudent to spend a few bucks.

We've already lost one weekend's worth of bags and that translates into lots of wasted leaves and garbage. That's too bad because this country, the world, is running out of landfill space and every bag of anything, including leaves, counts.

And while we're on the subject of lost opportunities, does everyone know that Andover's household hazardous waste collection is no longer in the budget?

Dare to go to the city and weep

By Perry Catlin

Dear Boss:

Could I please take 15 weeks off? I have been inspired by Millard Fuller, founder of Habitat for Humanity, and wish to go build houses to help eliminate poverty housing from the world.

That's a letter some of us felt like writing after hearing Mr. Fuller speak during Sunday's service at South Church, which has Habitat as a major mission focus. Mr. Fuller is an excellent speaker with a vision that's working. Soon his group will be erecting housing in Poland, Czechoslovakia and El Salvador, making them countries numbers 34, 35 and 36 where Habitat is addressing the needs of sub-standard housing.

Tom Jones of South Church, who introduced Mr. Fuller to the congregation, called Habitat "a revolt against homelessness."

In a polite way, Mr. Fuller said that in communities such as Andover, people are willing to stay in the "safe suburbs instead of going to the city and weeping." He challenged us to dare to look at poverty and homelessness and do something about it.

Cal Mutti, senior pastor of South Church, gave a very moving children's sermon in which he explained the concept of Habitat. He gave each youngster a small, play building block. And with wooden Fisher Price doll-people, he had the children share in building board by board a house for the doll-people while he explained Habitat. The children were very involved, hands-on, and chances are, a lot of them now understand Habitat's concept.

The previous evening, about 270 of us danced in Lawrence at Habitat Pavilion 2, a fundraiser that included dinner and excellent music. At one table of dancers there was a group of people who live in Habitat housing already built in the area. Sunday, Janet Surrett of Andover, president of Greater Lawrence Habitat for Humanity, and many others joined Mr. Fuller in dedicating the building site in Lawrence of the next Habitat house.

I heard a woman talking with another before Sunday afternoon's performance at Phillips Academy of Brahms' A German Requiem.

Do you normally attend these concerts?" the woman asked. And when the other said yes, the speaker said when she moved here a few years ago and saw that The Phillips Academy Chorus was performing, she asked her husband to go.

"Why would I want to go to a high school concert?" the woman quoted her husband as saying.

"I persuaded him to try just one," the woman smiled.

He did and they've been attending PA concerts ever since. Me, too.

Sunday's was the combined choruses of PA and Phillips Exeter. It was exquisite. I don't know how many voices were in the combined chorus but there were a lot and they managed to blend to sound like a small group. In addition, North Andover resident Santo Cataudella, the baritone soloist, was in his usual good form. Anna Soranno was the soprano soloist and although her part was very short, it, too, was well done.

Perhaps next weekend I will sit still and do nothing. But last weekend I had trouble fitting in every event I wanted to attend. Saturday afternoon I went to Merrimack Junior Theatre's Oliver, which was full of talent and exceptional voices, even though the acoustics at Doherty Middle School threatened to ruin it.

In my opinion, Tanya Tamarkin, playing the part of Fagin, came close to stealing the show. Actually, there were many good players. I wrote "voice!" by many in the program: Amy D'Onofrio, Keith Putnam (charming as Oliver and what a good voice), Kel O'Neill, Heather McKinnon and Karen Kirley, just to name a few. But Ms. Tamarkin stood out. Her voice is rich, it carries and she has poise. I predict we'll hear more and more about her in years to come.

The play was well cast and I enjoyed the choreography, especially in the number, "Be Back Soon."

Thanks to Josie Walker, the director; Dennis Lorne, choreography; and producers Susan Adler and Bonnie Plankey, as well as all the others.

Libraries: not an inalienable right

Editor, Townsman:

Are the people who want the library open on Sunday afternoon willing to pay for it? At Town Meeting April 1, citizens asked the director, Nancy Jacobson, and her overworked, underpaid and under-appreciated staff to accomplish mission impossible – to provide services with no money. In many towns the public library is known as the free library because it began as an alternative to a paying or renting library. While public libraries are a great American tradition, they are not an inalienable right.

A modest users fee of $1 or $2 per person would still give the patron access to all areas of the library, books, records, CDs, videos — a bargain at any time. Having worked at the library for two years on the Sunday afternoon rotation, I have seen the crowds. Even at such a low fee, it would be easy to generate the money needed to have library staff there. Sunday afternoon donation jars, like the fireworks donation jars, are another possibility.

If people in Andover want the library open Sunday afternoon, then put your money where your mouth is.

Board member supports the override

Editor, Townsman:

In supporting this override this will be the best $105 you spend all year.

Think of what you get for that $105. You help to insure that there will be an intelligent, well-educated workforce. You help to insure that we will have a well-informed, responsible citizenry. You help to insure that our children will be able to compete in a global market. You help to insure that real estate values in Andover will continue to be [illegible] you will find that this is a very efficient educational enterprise. The School Committee continues to seek ways to make this an even more efficient educational delivery system, but believes that the time is at hand to ask the citizens to act to preserve public education in Andover.

In coming years we will look back on 1991 as a watershed year. It is a year in which we can take control of the destiny of our school system and free it from the vagaries of state funding. H.G. Wells once observed that the history of humanity is a race between education and catastrophe. We want to make sure that Andover's public schools are keeping pace in that race. A yes vote will mean an average tax increase of $105. It will be the best $105 you invest all year.

Is adding money to the schools the answer?

Editor, Townsman:

It appears that the battle lines have again been drawn between the "Enlightened Few Who Value Education" and the "ignorant masses who think only with their pocketbooks." The school budget and its disposition are again at issue – this time in the form of a hefty $1.5 million override.

Frankly, I resent the self-righteous attitude of those who place themselves as the only valid gatekeepers of the social and educational future of this town/country/world. So often, they act as though anyone who does not share their views is hopelessly devoid of insight and foresight. This is unfair, untrue and [illegible]

Contrary to what these self-appointed guardians believe, I think that Andover voters do know that a good educational system is an important [illegible] characteristic of our town. Similarly, I believe that most Andover citizens realize that a major decrease in services within the school system would have a detrimental influence on the quality of education here.

[illegible]

almost insulting to our collective intelligence – the prevailing attitude is that they know so much better how to spend our money than we do. I thought that the days of "Don't worry, dear; we'll take care of it" were long past.

Let us not forget that throwing money at a problem hoping that it will go away rather than examining and eliminating the root cause of that problem is one of the reasons why liberal Massachusetts is where it is today. It hasn't worked for the Commonwealth; can we really think it will work for Andover?

School library programs are threatened

Editor, Townsman:

The citizens of Andover have always prided themselves on their school system. Indeed, in many cases, the schools are the main reason they moved to Andover. They have good reason to be proud. The Andover school system has had an outstanding reputation. Nowhere is this more evident than in its library/media program, one of the finest in the state.

This program includes a program adviser who guides and supports the K-12 library curriculum and a professional staff at both the elementary and secondary levels. For over 20 years certified librarians have taught Andover students research skills, trained them in the use of technology and instilled in them a love of literature.

Now, regardless of the override, this model program will be dismantled. The Phase I cuts will eliminate the program adviser position and three elementary librarians. If these cuts are not reversed, Andover will be unable to provide any library instruction in the elementary schools, depriving students of six years of library skills. These cuts affect the children of Andover and their future in college and in the work force. Please urge the School Committee to maintain our fine library program.

Jim Doherty is a good moderator

Editor, Townsman:

[illegible]

During these [illegible] years we have been well served by our town boards and officials, our fellow citizens and our moderators. Three moderators come to mind quickly – Bill Dalton, Roland Sherman and Jim Doherty. They, and the others I cannot recall, have steered us constructively through scores of town meetings. Decency, humor, integrity and responsibility – these were and are their trademarks.

Moderating is demanding. Much of it is pro forma. But somewhere in every meeting lurks the pitfall – the speaker who talks too long, the shouter who seeks to make decibels into votes, the issue that gets over-extended through legalisms and multiple amendments, the individual who baits an official or opponent more to satisfy his own ego than to advance the town's well-being.

Jim Doherty has been the moderator elected by the voters for the past 13 years. Repeatedly he has displayed the good moderator's traits – decency, humor, integrity and responsibility to the whole community. We have been fortunate to have him occupying that sensitive and demanding post. He has served the town and its citizens very well indeed.

Dick Hubbell pushes override

Editor, Townsman:

Open letter to the citizens of Andover:

Thank you for your strong support of the School Committee at annual Town Meeting. I would particularly like to thank Gerry Silverman, Joanne Marden and Fred Fitzgerald for their personal support in the face of overwhelming lack of support from the Board of Selectmen and the FinCom.

Two years ago when I was campaigning for the office of School Committee, I told you that my five children had received a good education in the Andover public school system and it was time to give something back to the town for their support. At the same time I indicated that I would spend the time required to understand the issues.

I have done that and, as you have heard on the town floor, it is not easy to understand the ramifications of all the decisions. However, I strongly believe that the school system will accelerate a downward trend which will be hard to stop and even harder to turn around without the $1.5 million that the School Committee is requesting. Students in Andover during the next period of time, whether it be three [illegible] will not receive the education that previous students did nor that [illegible] something back to Andover and ourselves.

The most precious gift we can give to our children is the best education available. Before you vote, stop and ask yourself what is better for all of us, a well educated next generation or a few extra material things. If you still have unanswered questions or need additional information on the school budget, please do not hesitate to call me (475-3863).

Do not become complacent! Monday night was only the first step. In order to maintain quality education in Andover we must now support education at the polls. Please come out to vote and bring other friends of education.

Thank you again,

Schools' reputation could slip here

Editor, Townsman:

The town of Andover will be going to the polls May 6 to decide the override question. The stakes are high – not just the $1.5 million for the school budget but the perception of what Andover is all about is hanging in the balance.

Andover of the past was all about a classy, small town with public schools known for their excellence. Most residents with children will readily admit that the reputation of the public schools was a primary reason for choosing Andover over surrounding communities.

But the perception of Andover as that classy, small town with excellent public education is close to slipping through our fingers. The effect of recent school budget cuts to the tune of $1.3 million sustained over the past two years is becoming harder and harder to hide. The physical appearance of our schools alone is beginning to tarnish our image.

Whether we like it or not our property values are married to our public schools. If our schools become mediocre so do our property values. A $105 tax-deductible investment in Andover as a town and family community seems a small price to pay.

(Note: $105 figure is the cost of the override to the average residential taxpayer.)

forms and Special Forces units, symbolizing honor. A decade ago yellow ribbons appeared for the hostages held in Iran – as a gesture to welcome these Americans home, and to let them know they were loved and missed, not to reflect President Carter's cowardice as Ms . Elmer suggests.

Ms. Elmer speculates today's yellow ribbons are a "trade-off between those who deplore our presence in the gulf but "support our troops" and those who support the gulf war, period." She states Americans weren't always so ambivalent or ambiguous regarding national issues or their symbols.

What is wrong with learning from past wrongs? Many people are trying to change attitudes since the destruction of the post-Vietnam era, and what is wrong with most of the country expressing two decades of hurt and forgiveness? How can we not have love for our troops today after the unfairness of yester-wars? If she had only taken the time to write to a few of these lonely, yet loyal soldiers, sailors, airmen or Marines, she would have heard their pleas for understanding, their confusion and apprehension a little support goes a long, long way.

Rather than riding around town saluting in her completely disrespectful manner to one person's proud patriotism, perhaps Ms. Elmer ought to think about life in another country, life as a woman under Saddam Hussein – in both scenarios she would have little or no freedoms of voice, speech or mobility. Ms. Elmer should be thankful she was born in a country founded on so many freedoms, and that there are still some people willing to fight for these freedoms. Because of their willingness to fight and make sacrifices, we all have the right to many freedoms still unknown throughout the world. While I respect her freedom as an American to speak her opinion, I salute our troops, wave my flag and wear my yellow ribbon proudly...until they all come home.

Craft show coming up

Handsprings, the eighth annual juried arts and crafts exhibition and sale at Phillips Academy, will be held Saturday, April 20, and Sunday, April 21, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Case Memorial Cage on Main Street. Admission is $3.

More than 130 artisans from New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Indiana will display their work. Demonstrations, music, a gourmet lunch and baked goods will add to the craft show.

According to the show's directors, nearly 400 artisans competed for the 139 exhibition spaces. Included in this year's event will be custommade furniture, pewter and brass, blown glass, hand-cut crystal engraving, toys, jewelry, silk flowers, decorative baskets, dolls, carved wooden items, quilts, pottery, flags and clothing.

Profits this year will benefit Fidelity House and the Andover/Abbot Association.

Andover man gets murdered in whodunit

Northern Essex Community College's Top Notch Players will present Agatha Christie's Murder at the Vicarage Friday and Saturday, April 12 and 13, at 8 p.m.

The play will be performed in the Top Notch Theater on the third floor of the C Building on the college's Haverhill campus.

Old Col. Protheroe, a man whom nobody liked, is murdered. The list of suspects includes his young wife, greedy daughter by a first marriage, a handsome artist and the nervous curate.

Performers, all Northern Essex students, include Andover residents James Robinson as Col. Protheroe and Brett Duggan as Inspector Slack.

Susan Sanders, assistant professor in the college's department of creative arts, will direct the performance.

Available at the door, tickets are $2 for students and senior citizens and $3 for the public.

Artists exhibit works at annual show

"Spring Potpourri" is the theme of the Andovers Artists Guild art show and sale to be held through April 14 at Park Street Village at Park and Bartlet streets.

The public is invited to view large and small paintings by 40 artists. The show will continue Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m.

More than 200 turned out for the opening reception last Friday. This is the first time the guild's show has been week-long, said its chairwoman, Dot Starkweather, who said it's usually a weekend event.

Ms. Starkweather is assisted by committee members Lori Rancourt, Phila Slade and Sue Daly, decorations; Janet Caiati and Louise Anderson, hospitality; Elaine Meisinger, Joan Rademacher and Bette Wasserboehr, publicity; Anna Hogan and Alice Mansfield, receiving; and Doris Peterson, Bonnie Teitelbaum and Carol Boileau, setup.

Besides the show, the guild is also working on its scholarship program for students from Andover and North Andover who plan to continue their art education. Seniors should contact their guidance departments for applications.

Canadian folksinger celebrates environment

Crossroads Coffeehouse brings singer/songwriter Eileen McGann of Canada to North Andover Saturday, April 13.

The Crossroads Coffeehouse is located at North Parish Church, corner of Massachusetts Avenue and Great Pond Road in North Andover.

Erica Wheeler will open for Ms McGann. The doors open at 7:15 p.m. for the 8 p.m. performance.

Ms. McGann appeared at nine major folk festivals in Britain last summer. At the same time, performers on both shores were recording and performing her environmental plea, "Requiem for the Giants," a tribute to the Temagami forests of her native Ontario.

Her songs range from joyous celebrations of the northern wilderness to cutting observations of urban angst and political ineptitude.

One prominent focus of her repertoire is songs about women in nontraditional roles.

Ms. McGann has entertained audiences at clubs, coffeehouses and festivals from Vancouver to Boston to Glasgow, Scotland.

Eileen McGann will sing at Crossroads Coffeehouse in North Andover Saturday at 8 p.m.

Her first album, Elements, released in 1987 on the Dragonwing Music label, has won rave reviews from publications such as Canadian Composers and Folk Roots.

Ms. McGann has also appeared on national radio shows including NPR's Mountain Stage. Ms. McGann's second album is scheduled for release this spring.

Admission is $6. Coffees, teas and homebaked desserts will be sold before the concert and during the break.

Crossroads Coffeehouse is operated by volunteers from North Parish Church.

Locals to run in Boston Marathon Monday

By Don Staruk

Andover will be well represented among the more than 8,500 runners who will attempt to run 26.2 miles this Monday, Patriots' Day, as they compete in the 95th running of the Boston Marathon. At least 29 of those runners either live or work in Andover.

The race begins at noon in Hopkinton and the first runners will reach the finish line in downtown Boston just after 2 p.m. For others, the race will last much longer.

Lisa Doucett, 35, of 137 N. Main St., who will be wearing #F885, started running in 1977 after graduating college and has run about a dozen marathons including a couple times in Boston.

"The last time was 1985," Ms. Doucett said last week.

Her best marathon was a 3:12 (hours:minutes) in Boston in 1985, but she doesn't expect to match that this time.

"I hope to do around 3:30 this year," she said.

Ms. Doucett was challenged this year by a fellow worker to run Boston. She works for the Massachusetts Foundation for Children, raising money for various special needs programs including the Professional Center for Handicapped Children on Osgood Street.

Part of her motivation to get to Boston will be the more than $250 in pledges she will receive for the foundation just by finishing.

"So I better finish," she said.

Ms. Doucett qualified for Boston with a 3:40 in the Cape Cod Marathon in Hyannis in early March.

She runs about 40 miles a week, mostly after work while her husband, James, can watch their two infant children.

Diane Jurgen, 24, formerly of Andover and now living in Newton, will run her third Boston Marathon Monday. She ran about 4:30 two years ago and 4:15 last year.

"This year I want to come in under four hours if at all possible," she said last week.

Ms. Jurgen said her parents, Bob and Mel Jurgen, of 88 Summer St., may watch the race Monday, but she will also be depending on some of her fellow employees at the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority for support.

"I run by one of our pump stations and they told me they'd be out there with water," she said.

Sharon Yu, 38, of 4 Pepperidge Circle, ran a 4:20 in the Cape Cod Marathon in early March.

"It was my first marathon," she said.

Ms. Yu ran a lot about 10 years ago and started running again in 1989. She is hoping to improve her time in Boston.

"I'd like to try for four hours," Ms. Yu said. "I've been doing between 90 and 100 miles a week."

Ms. Yu is a nurse at Sports Medicine of Merrimack Valley, in Haverhill, and has two children. She has had extra time to train because the doctor for whom she works is off climbing Mount Everest until June.

Jeff Smith, 41, of 7 Mohawk Road, ran a 3:42 last year and wants to run again this year, but has been nursing a sore Achilles tendon he injured during an 18-mile training run two weeks ago.

"I'm still planning to do it," Mr. Smith said last week. "This will be my fourth Boston."

He was going to test the injury by running some of the Boston course last weekend before making a final decision this week on whether to run Monday.

Kevin Sullivan, 42, of 55 North St., #6366, ran a 3:14 in the Marine Corp Marathon in Washington, D.C., in November, but his studying for the New Hampshire bar exam has hurt his training in the last couple months.

"I don't know. I hope I run it under 3:30. If I can run a qualifying time as well, that would be great," he said.

Mr. Sullivan needs a 3:20 finish to requalify in his age group for next year.

Margot Remington-Oman, 43, of 100 High Plain Road, #W44, ran a 3:11 in the heat at Boston last year.

"I just want to have my head up at the end," she said.

Bill Pennington, 36, of 46 Clark Road, #846, ran a 2:52 last year, but has run a 2:38 in the past.

"I should be able to do it in under 2:50. But it's a long way and I'm getting older," Mr. Pennington said.

Annemarie Starrett, 29, of 96 Poor St., #F132, ran a 3:09 for a personal record and a second place finish among women at the Cape Cod Marathon last month.

"I think I could go faster, but it all depends on the weather," Ms. Starrett said.

She would like to run 3:05 or even break three hours if the weather is cool and damp.

Aletta Bond, 32, of 2 McDonald Circle, #F334, qualified for Boston with a 3:24 in the Cape Cod Marathon in March, good enough for a ninth-place finish for women.

"I'm not worried about running 26 miles. I can run 26 miles," she said.

Dan Buchholz,14, of 3 Delphi Circle, may be the youngest Andover resident competing Monday and this will be his second time. He finished in about 5:30

Warriors look to be golden on diamond

By Rick Harrison

Like the top gunslinger in the Old West, the Andover High baseball team rides into the 1991 season with a price on its head.

The Golden Warriors were the class of the Merrimack Valley Conference last year, and they carried that excellence into post season tournament play where Andover won the Division 1 North Sectional title and advanced to the state semifinals before being eliminated two victories shy of a state title.

They were 21-4 overall, including 17-3 in league play.

AHS is being highly-touted again this spring, a near unanimous choice to win the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School championship once again.

However, before first place is conceded to Coach Dave Bettencourt's squad it must be noted that a number of top-notch players graduated from last year's outstanding team.

Eggert gone

The chief loss is lefty pitcher Chris Eggert, the Massachusetts Division 1 Player-of-the-Year in 1990 who is now getting batters out at Assumption College.

He was 8-0 on the mound and hit in the clutch all season long for the Warriors, who will be hard-pressed to find an adequate replacement.

Other graduates include third baseman Kurt Soloman, short stop Peter Reming, Albie Minichiello, Sean Gill, Dave Carriere and Dana Orlando.

So AHS must fill the holes created by their departure, while realizing at the same time that everyone will be out to put a feather in its cap by beating the mighty Warriors.

Andover opened the campaign Monday afternoon by dodging a major bullet, scoring early and often while building an 8-0 lead the first time.

"I want to break four (hours), but I don't know if I can. I definitely want to do four and a half," he said.

Bob Cronin, 35, an Andover police officer, hopes to beat his best time of 3:27.

"I want to do a sub-3:20," Mr. Cronin said.

Sue (Moyer) Cronin, 40, Officer Cronin's wife, has a best marathon time of 3:25.

"I'd like to do a 3:40-3:45, just enough to qualify for next year," Ms. Cronin said.

Patrick Donahue, 42, of 15 Chandler Circle, #8170, ran a 3:56 in Boston last year. He is hoping to break 3:45 this year in his third marathon effort.

Bob Nelken, 42, of 4 Whispering Pines Lane, is running his second marathon Monday and is hoping to finish in under four hours. He will run with four of his running buddy neighbors, Mike Arthur, 45, of 51 Red Spring Road, Howie Gordon, 41, of 25 Bateson Drive, Howie Zetlan, 44, of 11 Woodhaven Drive, and Rick Jaffe, 34, of 8 Candlewood Drive.

Other registered runners from Andover include:

AHS track teams nail Methuen in season-opening wins

By Rick Harrison

Picking up where they left off last year, the Andover High boys and girls' varsity track teams romped to season-opening wins over their Methuen counterparts last week.

The Andover girls won their 23rd consecutive outdoor dual meet, ripping the Rangers 100-36, while the boys hammered Methuen by a 108-37 count.

Andover girls, 100-36

The three-time defending MVC champs had double victories from Jill Ippolito and Ayanna Littrean to pace their win.

Ippolito captured the 100 dash in 13.0 seconds and also won the long jump, while Littrean was first in the discus (93'0") and shot put (34'11").

Leanna Mills was first in the javelin toss (114'0") and a close runnerup in the shot (34'5").

Other AHS individual winners included high jumper Krista Lavoie (4'10"), hurdler Holly Clark with a sparkling 48.3 clocking in the 300-meter intermediates, Nicole Angelos in the 200 meter dash (26.9), Sarah Wallace in the 800 meters (2:39.0), Ellen Sullivan in the mile (5:53.0) and Heather Holmander in the deuce.

Junior standout Ippolito led a sweep of the long jump, Layne Whitley and Lisa Allen grabbing second and third, while Andover also cleaned house in the javelin with Kerry Hagerty and Lakisha Williams 2-3.

A third sweep came in the mile with Amanda Holmes second and Debbie Xifaras third.

Maureen Maginnis was second in the triple jump and 100 dash, while other runners-up were high jumper Karen Murphy, Holly Clark in the 100-meter high hurdles, Tricia McNiece in the 800 and Karen Brocklesby i the 2-mile.

Individual third place finishes went to Kasie Kearins in the 100-meter hurdles, Catherine Cornell in the 300-meter hurdles, Cara O'Handley in the 200 dash and Grace Perry in the 400 dash.

Rounding out the scorers was the winning 4x100 meter sprint relay team of O'HAndley, Ippolito, Angelos and Maginnis in 51.3.

The girls run against Lawrence next week (April 17) and have the Wilmington Invitational a week from Saturday.

Andover boys, 108-37

The Golden Warriors had four double winners and a 50-foot shot put toss to spark the triumph over Methuen.

Andy Carleton captured first in the pole vault (10'0") and 200 meter dash (22.8).

Mogul competitor Randy Ying is in winners' circle

Amateur mogul competitor Randy Ying of Andover joined freestyle skiing legend Stu O'Brien of Snowbird, Utah, in the winners' circle for the third annual Bust 'n Burn/Legends of Freestyle competition at Sunday River April 6 and 7. The eight top competitors from the World Pro Mogul Tour demonstrated what makes them the finest mogul skiers in the world as they aired their tricks on the automobile-sized moguls of Sunday's River's White Heat trail.

Ying, 20, was one of 32 finalists from a field of nearly 200 who competed Saturday to make it into Sunday's head-to-head dual slalom bump off in the Bust 'n Burn competition.

AHS Warriors look to be golden on diamond and then holding on for an 8-5 victory over a Tewksbury team touted as the one to beat in the MVC Small School Division.

Eight of the nine players in the starting lineup hit safely, but they did it all in the first three innings before Tewksbury began its comeback.

It eventually reached the point where the host Redmen had the tying run on base and winning run at the plate in the bottom of the seventh, but sophomore reliever Justin Hesenius bore down to strike out Sean Mackey with the bases loaded to preserve the opening-day triumph.

One down and 19 to go.

While Eggert is gone, the other half of last year's devastating 1-2 combination is back.

Senior lefthander Dave Blank, who had major league scouts with Jugs guns clocking his fastball at Monday's game, is expected to be the ace of the staff following his performance last year.

Blank had three one-hitters, a ton of strikeouts and seven wins last season.

He struggled in Monday's opener against Tewksbury, but that's to be expected early in the season.

As he sharpens up, and assuming the varsity newcomers develop on schedule, Andover will become more and more formidable.

No. 1 at catcher this year is senior veteran Brett Hammond, a three-sport standout who produced numerous clutch hits last season while hitting .414 and making first-team All-Conference.

Last Monday's starting infield had senior Joe Iarrobino at first base, senior Matt Orlando at second, junior Bob Sheehan at shortstop and junior Jim Landry at third base.

Iarrobino, a three-year varsity performer, is a solid hitter with a sweet swing who is leaning towards Providence College for next fall. He hit .384 last year and stole 24 bases.

Orlando and Sheehan form an exceptional keystone combo, both with quick hands an defensive agility whil Sheehan adds the dimensions of speed and strong hitting.

Landry is another three-sport athlete with speed and aggressiveness at the plate.

Frontline outfielders Monday were senior Bryan Smith, junior Matt Daniels and senior Chathan Harish.

Junior Mike Daley handled the designated hitter's role.

Blank, 6-2 with a 0.86 ERA last season, is the acknowledged top hurler, and those expected to help round out the staff are sophomore righthander Justin Hesenius and junior lefty Jim Hanning.

Rounding out the varsity squad are junior third baseman-pitcher Chris Lembo, senior outfielder and returning letterman P>J> Johnson, senior outfielder Peter Arthur, senior shortstop-pitcher Ryan Gidley.

Andover, 8-5

Eight of the starting nine players hit safely ikn the Tewksbury contest and the one that didn't, winning pitcher Dave Blank, still reached base three times and scored two runs.

Blank struggled on the hill, yielding five hits and four runs while walking two and striking out two in his four inning stint.

Two of the hits were infield squibbers and two of the runs were unearned.

Hesenius finished up with three frames of three-hit relief, walking three and fanning three.

The Warriors threatened to blow Tewksbury, also 17-3 last year with two of the regular-season losses to Andover, out in the early going.

They racked Redmen ace lefthander Ken Chandler for all eight runs and all 10 hits in the first three innings, but then couldn't dent relievers Mike Kinnon and Sean Mackey who whitewashed AHS and didn't surrender a hit over the final four innings.

With one down in the Andover first Jim Landry singled sharply to leftfield, Bryan Smith did the same, and Dave Blank forced Smith and then promptly stole second.

Hammond bounced a two-run single up the middle, and Bobby Sheehan clouted a long RBI double over the centerfielder's head.

A two-out double to right by Joe Iarrobino went unrewarded in the second, but with one out in the third Blank started a five-run uprising by reaching first on a rare catcher's interference call.

Sheehan kept things alive with a crisp two-out single to centerfield, junior DH Mike Daley looped an RBI single to rightfield, and Chathan Harish followed with another RBI single to right.

Daley then scored on the money end of a first-and-third double steal with Harish, Matt Daniels rocketed a run-scoring double to deep center, nd Iarrobino made it 8-0 with a line drive single to right.

Tewksbury touched Blank for a run in the bottom of the third when Dave Wade doubled, took third on a passed ball, and scored on Larry Rogers' infield hit.

Chris Buckley opened the fourth by reaching on an error, Brian Brooks drew a one-out walk, both advanced on a wild pitch, Andy DeFelice rescued Buckley with an infield out, Mike Kinnon walked, and suddenly it was 8-4 after RBI singles by Sean Mackey and Lou Silva.

While Kinnon was mastering the Warriors, Hesenius escaped a bases-loaded jam in the sixth on a nifty 4-3 double-play initiated alertly by second baseman Matt Orlando.

In the seventh Rob McGrath spanked a lead single to centerfield, Buckley walked and both moved up on a wild pitch.

Brian Andriolo's sacrifice fly plated McGrath, making it 8-5, and then a walk to Dana Boudreau and infield single by Kinnon loaded the bases with two down.

Hesenius quickly moved head of Mackey on the count and then struck the potential winning run out.

Sheehan led the attack with 2-for-4.

Matt Orlando was a busy man in the field, finishing the game with three putouts and seven assists.

Board sends 2 more pink slips

By Lisa Boudreau

Two more school employees were added to the pink-slip list by the School Committee Tuesday night. The two administrators, Kathy Blain and Linnea Gershenberg, will receive letters from the administration next week notifying them they will not automatically be rehired for the coming school year. Under union contract employees must be notified by April 15 if they will not automatically be rehired.

The two administrators will join 70 nontenured teachers who were added to the list by the committee last week.

Ms. Blain is currently employed part-time as a housemaster (similar to an assistant principal) at Doherty Middle School. She is filling in because Richard McGrail, DMS principal, will be out for the remainder of the school year due to illness.

Ms. Gershenberg is the principal of the Early Childhood Center at Shawsheen School. The future of the school, which houses the town's kindergarten programs, is in question if the committee decides to save money by closing the school and moving students to the elementary schools.

No decision has been made about the matter. The committee is studying various options to keep the building open, including offering daycare to offset costs.

Remodelled interior of Depot House of Pizza

Depot House of Pizza

Depot House of Pizza's new bright and cheerful appearance is due to the extensive remodeling done on the premises last summer. The comfortable booths and gleaming brass make a comfortable place for a delicious meal and visiting with friends. Add to this the excitement of commuter trains coming and going and the fact that they now serve wine and beer along with their menu and you will understand the popularity of this restaurant. It has been at this location for 14 years.

Depot House of Pizza is well known for its pizzas and grinders of almost any combination one can imagine. There are 14 pizza toppings to choose from to suit your individual taste. If you prefer something other than these popular selections, spaghetti, veal cutlet, salad and delicious specials are also available. Owner Ted Exarchos has added even more variety to the menu by offering French fried onions and potatoes, chicken dinners, chicken wings and chicken fingers (served with a sweet and sour sauce). The entire menu is also available for take-out.

Depot House of Pizza offers convenience as well as good food. A phone call ahead of time can have an order of pizza or any of the other delicious foods on their menu waiting for pickup or to eat on the premises by the time you arrive.

All dishes are homemade to order. Fresh dough is made daily for their pizzas, as are the sauces. Antipasto, tuna or Greek salads are a special treat.

Depot House of Pizza is conveniently located by the train depot at 53 Essex St., Andover. They are open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. To call ahead to order or for take-outs, call 475-0055.

Parents line up for SHED

By Lisa Boudreau

The line to sign up for day-care slots at the Shawsheen Extended Day Care center began forming at 3 Saturday morning, six hours before registration was scheduled to begin.

By 5 a.m. more than 40 parents were waiting in line. Some sat on lawn chairs, others stood and carried on friendly conversations as they sipped coffee from thermos bottle cups.

Sidney Bialow, director of SHED, said she wasn't surprised at how early the line began forming. SHED is a private day-care program located on the grounds of Shawsheen School where the town's public kindergarten is housed.

"The year before the registration was at 6 in the evening and the line began forming at 11 (a.m.) That was a week night and we found out that many parents had to take a day out of work to sign up," said Ms. Bialow.

"That's why we changed it to a Saturday this year," she said.

In the end, 103 children were signed up, 15 less than last year.

"Everything ran very smoothly. We had a lot of people."

The program is licensed for 80 full-time slots. More than 80 children will be able to attended the program said Ms. Bialow, because some children attend less than five times each week.

Depending on funding and if an override of Proposition 2 1/2 passes at the special election May 6, Shawsheen School may be closed and kindergartens would attend classes in one of the town's four neighborhood elementary schools.

If that does happen, Ms. Bialow said children would be bused at parents' expense from SHED to the neighborhood schools and vice versa at the half-day switch over.

"Right now we are going on the assumption that things will be the same as last year," she said.

Recycle

DO YOU HAVE an item or items that you no longer need, but that would be useful to someone else, something you'd be willing to give away if someone would come get it? For instance: boxes, storm windows, a child's bicycle, cardboard boxes, an old set of dishes.

For only $4.75 for the first 20 words and 10 cents each additional word, you can list your recyclable item in the Townsman's newest classified section: RECYCLE

It's a way to clean up your place while acknowledging the world is running out of landfill space.

Selectmen uphold the $15 parking tickets

By Don Staruk

The Board of Selectmen Monday night denied, at least for now, a request by local merchants to reverse the recent parking fine increases.

Parking fines were increased as of April 1 from $5 to $15 for most minor offenses. The merchants told the selectmen that the action will hurt business in the Central Business District.

Bill Dalton, owner of the Andover Bookstore, submitted a letter to the board slamming the increase.

"If I were to say that the increase has been generally condemned by customers and merchants, I would be understating. The response from the general public has ranged from amused consternation to outright anger," Mr. Dalton said.

Lee Russem, owner of Russem's Ladies Apparel Shop, gave the board a petition signed by merchants and customers expressing opposition to the increases.

"I've had nothing but outrageous comments," said Enzo Fossella, owner of Enzo of Andover.

Bob Macartney, owner of Macartney's, confused the discussion a bit when he told the board he was against the higher fines because he liked to park in front of his store and, while he didn't mind paying the $5 fines, he wouldn't pay the $15 tickets.

One of the reasons for the higher fines was to move the merchants and their employees out of the Main Street parking spots to save them for customers.

"I understand what you're trying to do, but don't offend the people you're trying to keep downtown," Renee Russem, owner of Samantha's Fine Clothing, told selectmen.

Freshman Selectman Larry Larsen also is against the new fines and submitted his own proposal for a parking plan that includes discounted parking for merchants and their employees in the Central Business District.

> 'I've had nothing but outrageous comments.'
> Enzo Fossella, owner of Enzo of Andover.

Opponents also suggested issuing multiple $5 parking tickets for all-day offenders rather than hitting overtime parkers with the $15 fines.

Mr. Dalton also asked to suspend parking fines on Saturdays to encourage more business on the weekend.

The selectmen said the position of the merchants was confusing because they had raised the fines in an effort to help the merchants.

"One of the reasons we increased it was to keep traffic moving," Selectman William Downs told the merchants.

The board voted to leave the higher fines in place for the time being while they research the options a bit more and examine the various suggestions made at Monday's meeting. The selectmen will discuss the fines again at their next meeting, April 22.

Three-car accident Wednesday

An Andover woman and her daughter were injured early Wednesday morning when the car the woman was driving collided with a North Andover man's car on Route 125. The car driven by John Weekley of North Andover pulled out of Wildwood Road and took a left onto Route 125 heading south, said State Trooper Brian Lombard. The car driven by Snehlata Patel of Andover, which was heading north on Route 125, was unable to stop in time and hit Mr. Weekley's car on the driver's side door. The impact caused Mr. Weekly's car to spin around in the southbound lane, where he collided with another car. The two Patels and Mr. Weekley, shown in the photo being placed on a stretcher, were taken to Lawrence General Hospital. As of Townsman presstime, the three were being evaluated by emergency room personnel, according to a LGH spokeswoman, and the three are listed in stable condition.

"There's a Right Way and a Wrong Way to Use a Home Equity Creditline."

"Our Fixed Rate Feature helps make sure your Equity Creditline is used the right way. It would be right to amortize — or pay back — an Andover Bank Equity Creditline over ten years for home improvements you might need. But amortizing an Equity Creditline over ten years to purchase a car would be just plain wrong. Because a car should be paid for in three to five years.

At Andover Bank, you can segment the way you pay back your Equity Creditline for as many as five different needs — home improvement, a new car, college funding, paying unexpected medical bills, even a dream vacation. Segmenting is the smart way to repay the loan properly — a home improvement segment in ten years, a car segment in three to five years, and so forth.

There's more — you can convert these segments to a fixed rate during a period of rising interest rates. That way, you benefit from low variable rates during low interest periods and a fixed rate when interest rates may be climbing. And unlike other kinds of lending, your Equity Creditline interest, in most cases, is fully tax deductible for loans up to $100,000. You should consult your tax advisor for details.

For more information, or to obtain a Home Equity Creditline Brochure, call us at (508)475-6105, or stop by any convenient Andover Bank office today. You're sure to discover that there's no catch to this kind of financing. If there were, I'd tell you. It's my job to see that you have an opportunity to use an Andover Bank Equity Creditline the smartest way possible. After all, you're the most important customer I'll ever have."

Fixed Rate
Equity Line of Credit

Right now Lawrence Savings Bank will lock in a fixed interest rate on the RATEPOWER equity line of credit. There are no application fees or closing costs. You can use RATEPOWER for home improvement, tuition expenses, a new car, bill consolidation, or for any worthwhile purpose.

Borrow up to $100,000 based on the available equity in your home and "lock in" your interest rate. This way, you'll know the rate is solid and not subject to monthly adjustments as with other banks. What's more, if you currently have installment loans or a variable rate equity line of credit with another bank, this may be the perfect time to consolidate those loans and know that your rate is guaranteed. We'll even do all the necessary work to pay off your other loans.

Depending upon your personal tax status, your RATEPOWER interest may be deductible. Remember, interest on installment loans is not deductible in 1991. Stop by or call any office to request more information or the RATEPOWER application and terms. At Lawrence Savings Bank you have everything going for you, because you have . . . RATEPOWER!

Here's why we read the ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

'I pretty much try to go cover to cover with the Townsman Sometimes I read it backwards. Of course, I always read Ginny Cole's recycling column And it's so nice to read Perry Catlin's column - She's enjoying Andover so much.'
Tina Girdwood president of Andover Recycling

'For the past 21 years, I have appreciated the manner and objectivity in which the Townsman has presented the news about our community to our community.'
Ken Seifert, former superintendent of Andover schools

'I look through the classifieds every week, and the police log.'
Brian Jones, junior at Andover High School

'The paper has been brighter, more focused, less exclusive, more inclusive. It shows good direction.'
Rev. Dr. Calvin Mutti, senior pastor, South Church

My husband Paul and I especially enjoy Lisa's (Boudreau) stories. We love to read about the younger kids coming up through Andover sports. We enjoy Towntalk and overall, the information given is always in a tasteful manner. You cover so much.'
Alice McNamara, 6 Downing St

INTRODUCING

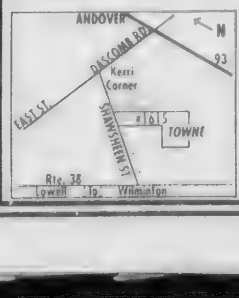

TORO RECYCLER

AUTHORIZED TORO DEALER

The Toro Recycler™ Mower

Specifically designed to give you a healthy, beautiful lawn without bagging. Here's how it works: first, a specially designed blade lifts the grass, cuts it evenly, and directs the clippings into the grass deflectors. These patented deflectors redirect the clippings back into the blade to be cut and recut into fine particles. These tiny particles of grass are then returned to the turf where they quickly decompose, naturally fertilizing the lawn without contributing to thatch buildup.

Put nothing down.
Except your right foot.

$199 a month.

Right now, during our Accord Lease Program, you can drive off in this 1991 Accord LX with no down payment.

Or, you can choose any other Accord model, including any Coupe, Four-Door or Wagon. Our factory-assisted rates mean small monthly payments on three, for and five year leases. And, best of all, you'll have the option to buy at the end of your lease.

The offer will come to an end soon. So you better step on it.

Assessor's office is busier than ever

By Don Staruk

Real estate transactions have not significantly increased in the first three months of this year, but more activity in the assessor's office may be a sign of things to come, according to William J. Krajeski, town assessor.

"We have had a lot more appraisers and realtors in our office for the past three or four months," Mr. Krajeski said last week.

The 12 or 15 requests a day for property information the assessor's office has been receiving the first quarter of this year compares to maybe six requests a day for much of last year.

"Transactions aren't necessarily increasing, but activity is," Mr. Krajeski said.

The next three months, April, May and June, are usually the biggest months for property sales, according to the assessor. But buyers are not jumping at property yet, according to Mr. Krajeski.

"People are being a lot more careful about what they pay," he said.

Revaluation and abatements

Last year's property revaluation resulted in a flurry of tax abatement requests, according to Mr. Krajeski.

"We had about 890 abatements filed," he said.

His office has resolved about 95 percent of the requests, with about 50 percent approved and 50 percent denied.

Most of the abatements were the result of errors caused by the assessor's office switching computer systems, according to Mr. Krajeski.

"The typical abatement is not that large," he said.

One exception to that is Digital Equipment Corporation, which received a $20 million abatement.

DEC's eight properties in Andover were valued at $103 million for fiscal 1990, but dropped to $83 million after the company disputed the assessment and the town agreed to an out-of-court settlement.

The $19,961,000 abatement reduced the company's tax bill from $1,337,955 to $1,090,059.

Mr. Krajeski stressed that residents should understand the fiscal 1991 tax bills are based on property values as of Jan. 1, 1990.

"As of Jan. 1, 1990, this is what we feel was the value," he said.

Although property values may have changed during 1990, that change won't show up until the fiscal 1992 tax bills, which will be based on values as of Jan. 1, 1991.

Quarterly taxes

The switch from semi-annual to quarterly tax billing this year improved the town's cash flow and helped the town avoid borrowing to pay its bills, but it has also had a somewhat hidden benefit for taxpayers, according to Mr. Krajeski.

With revaluation this year, residents who had higher assessments and larger tax bills would have seen the entire increase in the second half tax bill. With quarterly billing, the increase was split over two bills, allowing property owners to plan ahead for the second half of the increase due three months later.

"That sort of has been a little bit of a hidden advantage of the quarterly tax bills," Mr. Krajeski said.

Tax rate

The Board of Selectmen increased the tax classification shift from 115 to 120 percent this year to ease the burden on residential property owners after a decrease in industrial property values.

The residential rate still went up 9.8 percent, from $10.40 per $1,000 of value last year to $11.42 per $1,000 of value this year. The commercial rate went up 16.4 percent, from $12.92 to $15.04.

Top taxpayers

Andover's 10 largest taxpayers contribute 18.8 percent, $7.4 million, of the towns $39 million tax burden, or levy limit.

The top 15 tax payers are responsible for 22.2 percent of the levy, or about $8.7 million.

The Trustees of Phillips Academy is the only residential property owner to make the list of the top 15. PA is number 13 on the list of largest tax payers even though the school is ninth in overall assessed value. The difference is the tax rate, residential property being less than commercial.

Largest taxpayer

Raytheon Co. is the largest taxpayer again this year with property valued at $107,288,600, a drop from $130 million last year. The company's total assessment includes those properties listed as Endrock Associates, a subsidiary of Raytheon Co.

At a commercial rate of $15.04 per $1,000, Raytheon's tax bill for fiscal 1991 would be about $1.6 million.

Digital Equipment Corporation is the second largest taxpayer with an assessment of $79,483,300, down from $103,556,900 last year.

The total assessments for the rest of the top 15 tax payers are:

3. Andover Mills Realty, $54,295,100, up from $45 million last year.
4. Gillette, $52,046,700, up $1.5 million.
5. Hewlett-Packard, $50,254,600, down from $64 million.
6. Prudential Insurance, $46,804,300, down from $59 million.
7. Andover Park Realty, $28,269,600, down from $39 million.
8. American Real Estate, $25,813,200, down from $31 million.
9. CA Investment and Yvon Cormier Construction, $26,778,546.
10. New England Business Park, $22,124,200.
11. (Marriott) Ocean Properties, $19,363,000.
12. New England Telephone, $19,332,500 (includes personal property assessment of poles, wires, transformers and other equipment not listed in real estate listing).
13. Phillips Academy, $21,618,200 (residential property).
14. Merrimack Mutual Fire, $16,636,900.
15. Genetics Institute, $15,971,300, up from $15.5 million.

Genetics has nearly completed an addition to its Burtt Road building, only part of which was included in this assessment. Genetics will probably move up the list in the next year or two.

GOLD KEY HOMES

Dear Homesellers,

Century 21 Minuteman is proud to boast that 1990 (the worst year in recent history in Massachusetts real estate sales) was the most productive year in the history of our company. We attribute this success, in part, to the fact that we are continually looking for ways to adjust our marketing strategies to the current market.

If, as predicted, the Massachusetts real estate market of 1990 (many more homes on the market than previous years, fewer buyers than previous years, prices falling) continues into 1991, new aggressive methods must be employed to get property sold. We, at Century 21 Minuteman realize that it is not "business as usual"; that the days are over when a home marketing plan can consist of merely submitting the property to multiple listing, advertising, and then waiting. A marketing plan must be innovative and must generate excitement!

We have designed our GOLD KEY HOMES Marketing Program to do just that! Call us for details!

Jean Fitzgerald and Pamela Lebowitz
Proprietors

What is the GOLD KEY HOMES Marketing Program?

The GOLD KEY HOMES Marketing Program is an innovative strategy designed to generate more showings of your home. With hundreds of properties currently on the market, a successful marketing program must:

- Make your home stand out among all the rest.
- Pique the interest of the Realtors

The GOLD KEY HOMES Marketing Program does just that!When you designate your home as a GOLD KEY HOME, you give the listing and selling Brokers and Sales Associates an opportunity to win up to $50,000! They will be anxious to show a GOLD KEYHOME!

What do GOLD KEY HOMES mean to you, the Homeseller?

Many homesellers are now offering bonuses or increased commissions in hopes of creating interest among Realtors. Century 21 Minuteman homesellers are going one step better! Imagine that you are a Realtor and a buyer wants to buy a 4 bedroom Colonial home. There are hundreds on the market! If you sell a GOLD KEY HOME, you will be eligible to win up to $50,000. Would you make an attempt to introduce your buyers to a GOLD KEY HOME? Certainly! By participating in the GOLD KEY HOMES Marketing Program.

- Your home will become a preferred property with Realtors
- Your home will be shown to many more buyers: more showings means a quicker sale
- There will be no cost to you above Century 21 Minuteman's standard commission.
